About the Creators

We are two young professionals who have combined our varying skillsets to create educational children's books focussed on health and wellbeing. Our vision is to use our books, which utilise captivating illustrations and engaging narratives, as a pedagogical vehicle through which to teach children about these important life concepts.

Our first completed book focusses on the current issue of screen time. However, we are also working on a series of children's books exploring a wide range of health and wellbeing related themes, such as: mindfulness, physical health, emotional wellbeing, resilience, and other similar topics.

We are committed to improving the health and wellbeing of all Australian children, so for every book sold we will donate another book to an Australian child.
